

Summary

During January, the share price of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) rose 6.46%, net of fees, compared to a 4.91% rise in its benchmark index, the sterling-adjusted S&P Emerging Frontier Super Composite Net Total Return Broad Market Index (S&P Super BMI). Additionally, and for comparative purposes only, the sterling-adjusted MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) rose 5.42% over the month. Since its inception in September 1998, the Fund has outperformed its benchmark index on an annualised basis by 0.39 of a percentage point and outperformed the MSCI EM Index on an annualised basis by 0.86 of a percentage point, net of fees.

EWF Performance* Compared to the S&P Super BMI and MSCI EM Index (£) Since Inception (Rebased from inception, where 15th September 1998 = 100)

* Historical net of fees performance is based on an investment management fee of 1.5% per annum; as of 7 February 2022, the investment management fee is 1.45%. Returns are quoted in GBP for the convenience of shareholders, however the base currency of the Fund is USD.

The benchmark was changed from the S&P Emerging BMI Plus on January 1, 2009 to better reflect the investment strategy of the Fund. The S&P Emerging BMI Plus was the successor index to the S&P/IFC Global Composite Index, the benchmark for the Fund prior to September 1, 2008, which has been discontinued. Benchmark changes have not been applied retroactively and therefore historical benchmark performance is a blend of the BMI and IFC indices. The MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) is shown for comparative purposes. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Portfolio Data

Fund Size	£119.40m
Number of Shares in Issue	1,511,902.542
Number of Portfolio Holdings	46
Size Weighted Portfolio Discount of closed-end funds	16.77%*
Size Weighted Average Life of Portfolio	2.02 years

Excluding 49.98% of the portfolio with unlimited life.

* Size Weighted Portfolio Discount represents the see-through discount of the underlying closed-end funds. It is calculated by multiplying the percentage position sizes of the underlying closed-end funds by their respective discounts. These calculations are then added together to determine the size weighted portfolio discount for the portfolio. The size weighted portfolio discount is a measure of value within the portfolio, with a higher value representing wider discounts, and accordingly more value within the portfolio.

Some of the closed-end funds have either fixed maturities or continuation votes that allow shareholders to vote on a restructuring of the underlying closed-end fund. The size weighted portfolio life is calculated by taking the percentage position sizes of the relevant holdings on the portfolio and multiplying them by their respective time periods remaining to the corporate event. These calculations are then added together to determine the minimum size weighted portfolio life for the portfolio. A lower size weighted portfolio life is beneficial for the portfolio as it may equate to potentially more corporate activity in the near term.

Investment Commentary

Economic Overview* (Macroeconomics)

Emerging market (EM) equities started the year on solid footing, as the reopening in China and a weaker US dollar drove positive sentiment. Indeed, the US Dollar Index (DXY Index) declined by 1.4%, while the MSCI EM Currency Index rose by 2.6%. Signs that inflation in developed markets (DM) was slowing contributed to market optimism, with US annual average hourly earnings growth in December easing faster-than-expected. As such, the US 2-year and 10-year Treasury yields fell by 23 bps and 37 bps, respectively. Risk-on sentiment meant that EM equities (MSCI EM Net TR Index) rose by 7.9%, outperforming DM equities (MSCI World Net TR Index) by 0.8 of a percentage point.

China's stock market was one of the strongest in January as mobility recovered faster than anticipated, and the regulatory crackdown on internet companies eased. The People's Bank of China announced that the rectification of some internet companies was "basically completed". In addition, the state announced further policy support for the ailing property sector. The MSCI China Index gained 11.8% in US dollar terms in January. Elsewhere in Asia, hopes that the semiconductor downcycle was reaching a bottom lifted equities in Taiwan and South Korea, with their MSCI indices rising by 12.7% and 12.4% in US dollar terms respectively. As such, the Emerging Asia region outperformed EM by 0.7 of a percentage point. Positive sentiment on semiconductors also meant the information technology sector was the best performing sector in January, outperforming EM by 5.7 percentage points.

Latin America was another strong region, outperforming EM by 2 percentage points in January. Much of the outperformance can be attributed to Mexico, which gained 17% in US dollar terms, making it the second-best performing EM. Relative political stability compared to its Latin American peers partly explains the rally in Mexican stocks. Indeed, riots in Brazil's capital by supporters of former president Bolsonaro weighed on Brazilian equities. Moreover, President Lula's fiscal plans raised fears of stoking inflation. The MSCI Brazil Index rose by just 6.9% in US dollar terms in January, despite the 7.7% gain in the Bloomberg Industrial Metals Subindex.

While both industrial and precious metals prices rose in January, the price of Brent crude oil dropped by 1.7%, which left the MSCI indices for the UAE, Kuwait, Qatar and Saudi Arabia underperforming the EM index by 11.7, 7.6, 5.9 and 5.7 percentage points, respectively. Elsewhere, the MSCI Turkey Index was the weakest EM in January, falling by 8.2% in US dollar terms, as investors started considering the upcoming general election in May. As a result, the EMEA region underperformed EM by 5.6 percentage points.

Portfolio Commentary* (Investment Management)

In January, emerging markets generalist exposure was adjusted as we purchased shares of Abrdn Emerging Markets Equity Income Fund Inc, Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust and Utilico Emerging Markets Trust at discounts as wide as 14.5%, 13% and 14.5%, respectively, whilst shares of JPMorgan Emerging Markets Investment Trust were sold at discounts as narrow as 5%. Frontier exposure was increased as shares of BlackRock Frontiers Investment Trust were purchased at a discount of 9.5%.

In Asia, regional exposure was increased as shares of Schroder AsiaPacific Fund were purchased at discounts as wide as 11%. Chinese exposure was adjusted as we purchased shares of Fidelity China Special Situations at a discount of 10.5%, whilst shares of China Fund Inc and Prosus were sold at discounts of 8.5% and 31.5%, respectively. Vietnamese exposure was decreased as shares of VinaCapital Vietnam Opportunity Fund and Vietnam Enterprise Investments Limited were sold at average discounts of 13.5% and 10%, respectively.

In Latin America, Brazilian exposure was increased as shares of Ocean Wilsons Holding were purchased at discounts as wide as 53%.

Fund Objective & Background

The objective of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) is to invest for capital growth in a portfolio of closed-end funds whose investment policy is directed mainly towards emerging markets. This approach allows great flexibility in asset allocation, a wider diversification of investments, participation in the performances of high quality fund managers and potentially enhanced performance when the discounts to net asset value at which closed-end funds tend to trade narrows. EWF is a sub-fund of The World Markets Umbrella Fund plc. ♦

Risk Profile

- There is no capital guarantee or protection on the value of the Fund. Investors can lose all capital invested in the Fund.
- Some emerging markets in which the Fund invests may have less developed political, economic and legal systems. Such markets may carry a higher than average risk to investment and may lead to large fluctuations in the value of the Fund.
- The Investment Manager does not engage in currency hedging. Changes in currency exchange rates may therefore adversely affect the value of your investment.
- During difficult market conditions, some of the Fund's assets may become difficult to accurately value or to sell at a desired price.
- The Fund may invest in warrants. Warrants carry a degree of risk significantly higher than the underlying company shares due to their leveraged nature and therefore have higher volatility.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and any income is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up and may be affected by exchange rate fluctuations. This means that an investor may not get back the amount invested. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses.

The indices are unmanaged and cannot be invested directly.
