^{}The benchmark was changed from the S&P Emerging BMI Plus on January 1, 2009 to better reflect the investment strategy of the Fund. The S&P Emerging BMI Plus was the successor index to the S&P/IFC Global Composite Index, the benchmark for the Fund prior to September 1, 2008, which has been discontinued. Benchmark changes have not been applied retroactively and therefore historical benchmark performance is a blend of the BMI and IFC indices. Investment Commentary

Economic Overview* (Macroeconomics)

Equities fell across the board in August as signs of strength in the US economy led the market to expect rates to remain higher for longer. In addition, during his annual Jackson Hole Symposium, Fed Chair Powell did not signal imminent rate cuts, noting that inflation "remains too high". The market is pricing in a near 50% likelihood of another rate hike by the end of the year. In addition to a relatively hawkish Fed, worries over China's real estate sector weighed on sentiment. The US 2-year Treasury yield fell by 1.4 bps while the 10-year Treasury yield rose by 15 bps. In the face of worsening sentiment, the DXY Index gained 1.7% in August. In contrast, the MSCI EM Currency Index edged down by 1.5%. Emerging market (EM) equities (as measured by the MSCI EM Net TR Index) fell by 6.2%, underperforming developed market (DM) equities (as measured by the MSCI World Net TR Index) by 3.8 percentage points.

China was one of the weakest EMs in August as the MSCI China Index fell by 9% in US dollar terms. Concerns over the economy were only partially allayed by market support measures ranging from a rate cut to a reduction in home mortgage rates and downpayment ratios. The offshore yuan dropped by 1.8% as authorities stepped in to arrest the decline by raising the cost of shorting the currency.

Softness in China weighed on commodity prices, with the Bloomberg Commodity Index falling by 1.2% in August, led by declines in Industrial Metals (-5.1%) and Precious Metals (-2.1%). The price of Brent crude oil rose by 1.5% as Saudi Arabia extended its production cut. As such, the MSCI indices for the commodity-focused markets of South Africa and Brazil fell by 12.3% and 8.3% in US dollar terms, respectively. The South African rand and Brazilian real were also amongst the weakest currencies in August, falling 5.4% and 4.6%, respectively. Losses in Colombia (-14.9%) and Chile (-9.4%) dragged down Latin America, with the region underperforming EM by 1.1 percentage points.

The strength in EM in August was concentrated in the EMEA region, as the only three markets that posted positive returns in US dollar terms were Egypt (10.9%), Turkey (7.6%) and Hungary (5.4%). As a result, the EMEA region outperformed EM by 0.8 percentage points. Stocks in Turkey were buoyed by the central bank's decision to hike rates by a larger-than-expected 750 bps, adding to hopes of a switch to more orthodox policymaking whilst the Turkish lira gained 0.9%.

India was the best-performing major EM, with the MSCI India Index increasing by 1.9% in US dollar terms. Stocks were lifted by foreign equity inflows and the release of data showing a robust GDP outturn in 2Q23. Nonetheless, CPI surged to 7.4% as the country grapples with dry weather and rising food prices.

Portfolio Commentary* (Investment Management)

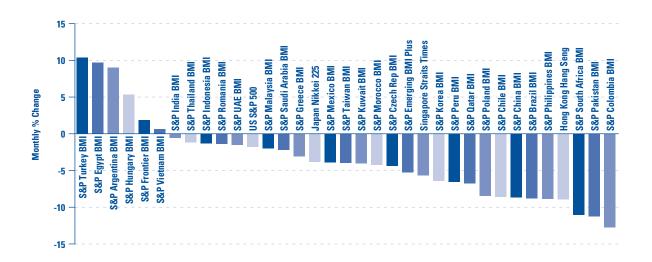

In August, emerging markets generalist exposure was reduced as we sold shares of Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust on the back of outperformance as its discount narrowed to 13.5%.

In Asia, regional exposure was reduced as shares of Scottish Oriental Smaller Companies Trust were sold at an average discount of 12.5%. Chinese exposure was decreased as shares of Abrdn China Investment Company and China Fund Inc were sold as their discounts narrowed to 12.5% and 12%, respectively. Exposure to India was also decreased as shares of Morgan Stanley India Investment Fund Inc were sold at an average discount of 18.5% due to outperformance versus its peer group of Indian closed-end funds. Exposure to Taiwan was decreased as shares of Taiwan Fund Inc were sold at an average discount of 21% on the back of the manager's strong performance versus its benchmark index.

In Latin America, Mexican exposure was decreased as shares of Mexico Fund Inc were sold at discounts averaging 20% following strong gains for Mexico this year.

In the Middle East, shares of Gulf Investment Fund were sold at an average premium of 2.5%.

Fund Objective & Background

The objective of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) is to invest for capital growth in a portfolio of closed-end funds whose investment policy is directed mainly towards emerging markets. This approach allows great flexibility in asset allocation, a wider diversification of investments, participation in the performances of high quality fund managers and potentially enhanced performance when the discounts to net asset value at which closed-end funds tend to trade narrows. EWF is a sub-fund of The World Markets Umbrella Fund plc. •

*Size Weighted Portfolio Discount represents the see-through discount of the underlying closed-end funds. It is calculated by multiplying the percentage position sizes of the underlying closed-end funds by their respective discounts. These calculations are then added together to determine the size weighted portfolio discount for the portfolio. The size weighted portfolio discount is a measure of value within the portfolio, with a higher value representing wider discounts, and accordingly more value within the portfolio.

Some of the closed-end funds have either fixed maturities or continuation votes that allow shareholders to vote on a restructuring of the underlying closed-end fund. The size weighted portfolio life is calculated by taking the percentage position sizes of the relevant holdings on the portfolio and multiplying them by their respective time periods remaining to the corporate event. These calculations are then added together to determine the minimum size weighted portfolio life for the portfolio. A lower size weighted portfolio life is beneficial for the portfolio as it may equate to potentially more corporate activity in the Country Allocation (+0.23%)

(Relative performance is in US dollar terms and references the country's S&P Super BMI component or an appropriate market index versus the S&P Super BMI composite index)

Country allocation was positive, with outperformance resulting from the Fund's exposure to Vietnam (which contributed 24 basis points to performance) as its index outperformed the composite index. Underweight positions to China (+15 bps) and South Africa (+7 bps) also contributed outperformance as their indices underperformed.

However, the Fund's exposure to Hong Kong (-13 bps) contributed underperformance as its index underperformed.

Portfolio Holding NAV (-0.02%)

(Performances are quoted in US dollar terms against their respective S&P Super BMI component, or for out-of-benchmark exposure, against a comparable country or regional index)

NAV performances were slightly negative as the NAVs of Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust (-9 bps), Asia Dragon Trust (-9 bps), and Schroder AsiaPacific Fund (-7 bps) underperformed their indices by 1, 2.1, and 1.7 percentage points, respectively. The NAV of Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust underperformed due to an overweight position to South Korea, and an underweight position to Saudi Arabia; stock selection in the materials and financials sectors was also unfavourable. Asia Dragon Trust's NAV underperformed due to stock selection within China and South Korea. The NAV of Schroder AsiaPacific Fund underperformed due to the fund's exposure to Hong Kong and Singapore.

Some outperformance stemmed from Taiwan Fund Inc (+18 bps) as its NAV outperformed its index by 2.9 percentage points due to stock selection within the information technology sector. Stock contributors included overweight positions to Alchip Technologies and Gold Circuit Electronics.

Discount Movements (-0.53%)

(Performances are quoted in US dollar terms unless specified otherwise)

Discount movements were negative as the discounts of Taiwan Fund Inc (-34 bps), VinaCapital Vietnam Opportunity Fund (-12 bps), and Fidelity China Special Situations (-9 bps) widened by 4.7, 4.1, and 3.2 percentage points, respectively. VinaCapital Vietnam Opportunity Fund's discount widened as investors anticipated further corrections in the Vietnamese market following a three-month rally in the market. The discount of Fidelity China Special Situations widened as investors turned more cautious on Chinese equities.

Conversely, icapital.biz Berhad (+17 bps) contributed outperformance as its discount narrowed by 11.8 percentage points after the fund announced plans to implement a dividend policy to address the discount.

Risk Profile

- There is no capital guarantee or protection on the value of the Fund. Investors can lose all capital invested in the Fund.
- Some emerging markets in which the Fund invests may have less developed political, economic and legal systems. Such markets may carry a higher than average risk to investment and may lead to large fluctuations in the value of the Fund.
- The Investment Manager does not engage in currency hedging. Changes in currency exchange rates may therefore adversely affect the value of your investment.
- During difficult market conditions, some of the Fund's assets may become difficult to accurately value or to sell at a desired price.
 The Fund may invest in warrants. Warrants carry a degree of risk significantly higher than the underlying company shares due to their leveraged nature and therefore have higher volatility.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and any income is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up and may be affected by exchange rate fluctuations. This means that an investor may not get back the amount invested. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses. The indices are unmanaged and cannot be invested directly. All information expressed in USD. All data: Bloomberg, BNY Mellon, CLIM, $S \rightleftharpoons P$, MSCI.
