

Summary

During January, the share price of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) fell 2.11%, net of fees, compared to a 3.96% fall in its benchmark index, the sterling-adjusted S&P Emerging Frontier Super Composite Net Total Return Broad Market Index (S&P Super BMI). Additionally, and for comparative purposes only, the sterling-adjusted MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) fell 4.54% over the month. Since its inception in September 1998, the Fund has outperformed its benchmark index on an annualised basis by 0.22 of a percentage point and outperformed the MSCI EM Index on an annualised basis by 0.82 of a percentage point, net of fees.

EWF Performance* Compared to the S&P Super BMI and MSCI EM Index (£) Since Inception (Rebased from inception, where 15th September 1998 = 100)

* Historical net of fees performance is based on an investment management fee of 1.5% per annum; as of 7 February 2022, the investment management fee is 1.45%. Returns are quoted in GBP for the convenience of shareholders, however the base currency of the Fund is USD.

The benchmark was changed from the S&P Emerging BMI Plus on January 1, 2009 to better reflect the investment strategy of the Fund. The S&P Emerging BMI Plus was the successor index to the S&P/IFC Global Composite Index, the benchmark for the Fund prior to September 1, 2008, which has been discontinued. Benchmark changes have not been applied retroactively and therefore historical benchmark performance is a blend of the BMI and IFC indices. The MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) is shown for comparative purposes. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Portfolio Data

Fund Size	£77.22m
Number of Shares in Issue	1,040,353.656
Number of Portfolio Holdings	40
Size Weighted Portfolio Discount of closed-end funds	17.60%*
Size Weighted Average Life of Portfolio	2.18 years

Excluding 49.91% of the portfolio with unlimited life.

* Size Weighted Portfolio Discount represents the see-through discount of the underlying closed-end funds. It is calculated by multiplying the percentage position sizes of the underlying closed-end funds by their respective discounts. These calculations are then added together to determine the size weighted portfolio discount for the portfolio. The size weighted portfolio discount is a measure of value within the portfolio, with a higher value representing wider discounts, and accordingly more value within the portfolio.

Some of the closed-end funds have either fixed maturities or continuation votes that allow shareholders to vote on a restructuring of the underlying closed-end fund. The size weighted portfolio life is calculated by taking the percentage position sizes of the relevant holdings on the portfolio and multiplying them by their respective time periods remaining to the corporate event. These calculations are then added together to determine the minimum size weighted portfolio life for the portfolio. A lower size weighted portfolio life is beneficial for the portfolio as it may equate to potentially more corporate activity in the near term.

Investment Commentary

Economic Overview* (Macroeconomics)

Global equities started the year on weak footing amid growing tensions in the Middle East, with the MSCI ACWI Net TR Index returning just 0.6% in US dollar terms during January. The Iran-backed Houthi rebel attacks continued to disrupt maritime trade across the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden, leading to rising shipping costs and risking the progress made on global disinflation. Threats to oil supply offset concerns over slowing demand growth, allowing the Brent crude oil price to gain 6.1%. Softness in commodity markets outside energy meant that the Bloomberg Commodity TR Index was practically flat at 0.4%. Accordingly, the energy sector (+4.6%) was the only emerging markets sector to post positive returns.

In rates, the US yield curve steepened as US Treasury 2-year yields declined by 4 bps and the 10-year edged up by 3 bps. This was despite the Fed pushing back against market expectations of a March rate cut at its January FOMC meeting, noting that it was not appropriate to reduce the policy rate “until it has gained greater confidence that inflation” was closer to target. The US dollar Index (DXY) rose by 1.9%, while the MSCI EM Currency Index fell by 0.9%. Emerging markets (EM) equities (as measured by the MSCI EM Net TR Index) fell 4.6% in US dollar terms during January, underperforming developed market (DM) equities (as measured by the MSCI World Net TR Index) by 5.8 percentage points. This was the largest EM monthly underperformance since 1998.

China continued to be the biggest drag on EM equities, as the MSCI China Index dropped by 10.6% in US dollar terms, making it the second weakest MSCI EM Index after Chile (-11.1%). Factors behind China’s weak performance included disappointment over support measures and concerns over US-China relations in the wake of Taiwanese presidential elections. The MSCI Korea Index was another soft spot, falling by 10% in US dollar terms following weak earnings guidance from tech and EV battery companies. EM Asia underperformed the broader EM Index by 0.6 of a percentage point.

In contrast, the best performing markets were concentrated in the EMEA region, with Egypt, Turkey and Kuwait rising 19.8%, 10.3% and 7.0%, respectively. EMEA outperformed EM by 3.7 percentage points. Turkey’s stock market was supported by the ongoing policy pivot. The central bank at its January meeting signalled that it had reached the end of its tightening cycle after raising the policy rate to 45%.

Portfolio Commentary* (Investment Management)

In January, global generalist exposure was reduced as we sold shares of Hansa Investment Company as the discount narrowed to 43% following strong gains in its largest underlying holding, Ocean Wilsons. Emerging markets generalist exposure was increased as we purchased shares of abrdn Emerging Markets Equity Income Fund Inc, JPMorgan Global Emerging Markets Income Trust, Mobius Investment Trust and Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust at discounts ranging from 9% to 15%. Frontier and exposure to smaller EMs was increased as we purchased BlackRock Frontiers Investment Trust at a 9.5% discount.

Exposure to emerging Asia was increased as shares of abrdn Asian Income Fund were purchased at an average discount of 13%. Exposure to China was increased as shares of Fidelity China Special Situations were purchased at a 10% discount. Exposure to South Korea was increased as shares of Korea Fund Inc and LG Corp were purchased at average discounts of 17% and 55%, respectively. Exposure to India was decreased as shares of abrdn New India Investment Trust and JPMorgan Indian Investment Trust were sold at discounts ranging from 16% to 17%. Exposure to Vietnam was increased as shares of Vietnam Enterprise Investments Limited were purchased at a discount of 18%.

South African exposure was decreased as we sold shares of Remgro at a discount of 40%.

Fund Objective & Background

The objective of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) is to invest for capital growth in a portfolio of closed-end funds whose investment policy is directed mainly towards emerging markets. This approach allows great flexibility in asset allocation, a wider diversification of investments, participation in the performances of high quality fund managers and potentially enhanced performance when the discounts to net asset value at which closed-end funds tend to trade narrows. EWF is a sub-fund of The World Markets Umbrella Fund plc. ◆

Risk Profile

- There is no capital guarantee or protection on the value of the Fund. Investors can lose all capital invested in the Fund.
- Some emerging markets in which the Fund invests may have less developed political, economic and legal systems. Such markets may carry a higher than average risk to investment and may lead to large fluctuations in the value of the Fund.
- The Investment Manager does not engage in currency hedging. Changes in currency exchange rates may therefore adversely affect the value of your investment.
- During difficult market conditions, some of the Fund's assets may become difficult to accurately value or to sell at a desired price.
- The Fund may invest in warrants. Warrants carry a degree of risk significantly higher than the underlying company shares due to their leveraged nature and therefore have higher volatility.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and any income is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up and may be affected by exchange rate fluctuations. This means that an investor may not get back the amount invested. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses.

The indices are unmanaged and cannot be invested directly.
