

Summary

During September, the share price of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) rose 2.98%, net of fees, compared to a 4.26% rise in its benchmark index, the sterling-adjusted S&P Emerging Frontier Super Composite Net Total Return Broad Market Index (S&P Super BMI). Additionally, and for comparative purposes only, the sterling-adjusted MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) rose 4.52% over the month. Since its inception in September 1998, the Fund has outperformed its benchmark index on an annualised basis by 0.09 of a percentage point and outperformed the MSCI EM Index on an annualised basis by 0.62 of a percentage point, net of fees.

EWF Performance* Compared to the S&P Super BMI** and MSCI EM Index (£) Since Inception (Rebased from inception, where 15th September 1998 = 100)

* Historical net of fees performance is based on an investment management fee of 1.5% per annum; as of 7 February 2022, the investment management fee is 1.45%. Returns are quoted in GBP for the convenience of shareholders, however the base currency of the Fund is USD.

**The benchmark was changed from the S&P Emerging BMI Plus on January 1, 2009 to better reflect the investment strategy of the Fund. The S&P Emerging BMI Plus was the successor index to the S&P/IFC Global Composite Index, the benchmark for the Fund prior to September 1, 2008, which has been discontinued. Benchmark changes have not been applied retroactively and therefore historical benchmark performance is a blend of the BMI and IFC indices. The MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) is shown for comparative purposes. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Portfolio Data

Fund Size	£73.45m
Number of Shares in Issue	886,948.920
Number of Portfolio Holdings	42
Size Weighted Portfolio Discount of closed-end funds	17.24%*
Size Weighted Average Life of Portfolio	2.22 years

Excluding 45.58% of the portfolio with unlimited life.

* Size Weighted Portfolio Discount represents the see-through discount of the underlying closed-end funds. It is calculated by multiplying the percentage position sizes of the underlying closed-end funds by their respective discounts. These calculations are then added together to determine the size weighted portfolio discount for the portfolio. The size weighted portfolio discount is a measure of value within the portfolio, with a higher value representing wider discounts, and accordingly more value within the portfolio.

**Some of the closed-end funds have either fixed maturities or continuation votes that allow shareholders to vote on a restructuring of the underlying closed-end fund. The size weighted portfolio life is calculated by taking the percentage position sizes of the relevant holdings on the portfolio and multiplying them by their respective time periods remaining to the corporate event. These calculations are then added together to determine the minimum size weighted portfolio life for the portfolio. A lower size weighted portfolio life is beneficial for the portfolio as it may equate to potentially more corporate activity in the near term.

Investment Commentary

Economic Overview* (Macroeconomics)

Global markets gained in September as the Fed kicked off its easing cycle by delivering a larger-than-expected 50 bps rate cut. The dot plot projections released at the same FOMC meeting implied two more rate cuts by the end of the year. Market pricing by the end of September showed participants pricing in an 80% likelihood of a third rate cut. In line with the Fed cut, the US dollar (DXY Index) softened by 0.9%, while the 2-year and 10-year US Treasury yield fell by 28 bps and 12 bps, respectively. As such, the US yield curve uninverted. The other major development over the month was the unveiling of aggressive stimulus measures in China, which lifted emerging market (EM) stocks. EM equities (as measured by the MSCI EM Net TR Index) returned 6.7% in September, outperforming developed market (DM) equities (as measured by the MSCI World Net TR Index) by 4.9 percentage points. The MSCI EM Currency Index rose by 1.7%.

The Bloomberg Commodity TR Index rose by 4.9% in September on the back of optimism toward China, with gains in agriculture (+7.6%), industrial metals (+6.8%) and precious metals (+6.3%). The energy sector was flat (+0.5%) as the Brent crude oil price fell by 8.9%. Despite the escalation in the Middle East conflict, where Israel launched a ground incursion into Southern Lebanon, oil prices struggled amid over-supply concerns. Indeed, Saudi Arabia is reportedly preparing to ramp up production in December to regain market share.

At a market level, China (+23.9%) was the best performer as policymakers unveiled a raft of measures, ranging from support for the housing market to a special refinancing facility for share buybacks. Additionally, the PBoC cut rates. The magnitude of the measures took the market by surprise, driving a stock market rally. Following behind China was Thailand (+11.5%), where political stability improved after the swift removal and replacement of former PM Srettha Thavisin. New PM Paetongtarn Shinawatra confirmed that the first phase of the government's signature "Digital Wallet" scheme would go ahead. The only other EM to outperform the wider benchmark was Peru (+8%). South Africa (+6.6%) was also strong in September due to ongoing optimism around the Government of National Unity. Also, Naspers, which makes up 16.8% of the MSCI South Africa Index, rose by 14.1% given its exposure to China.

In contrast, the biggest laggards were Colombia (-3.7%), South Korea (-3%) and Poland (-2.1%). Colombia's stock market was likely impacted by weaker oil prices, while South Korea was weaker after Samsung Electronics and SK Hynix got caught up in the broader tech selloff. Brazilian equities (-0.9%) also struggled after Copom, in sharp contrast to the rest of EM, hiked rates at its September meeting. As a result, Latin America was the weakest region, underperforming the EM index by 6.6 percentage points.

Portfolio Commentary* (Investment Management)

In September, emerging markets generalist exposure was increased as we purchased shares of JPMorgan Global Emerging Markets Income Trust and Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust at discounts between 12% and 14%. Shares of Mobius Investment Trust, which offers a redemption opportunity every three years, were also purchased at an 8% discount.

In Asia, exposure to China was increased as shares of JPMorgan China Growth & Income were purchased at discounts as wide as 15%. Exposure to South Korea was adjusted as shares of SK Inc were purchased at an average discount of 72.5%, while shares of Korea Fund Inc were sold as the discount narrowed to 10%. Additionally, shares of LG Chem, LG Corp and Samsung C&T were sold at discounts ranging from 49% to 70% on price outperformance and discount narrowing.

In Latin America, Mexican exposure was reduced as shares of Grupo Mexico were sold at a 49.5% discount following strong price performance.

Fund Objective & Background

The objective of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) is to invest for capital growth in a portfolio of closed-end funds whose investment policy is directed mainly towards emerging markets. This approach allows great flexibility in asset allocation, a wider diversification of investments, participation in the performances of high quality fund managers and potentially enhanced performance when the discounts to net asset value at which closed-end funds tend to trade narrows. EWF is a sub-fund of The World Markets Umbrella Fund plc. ◆

Risk Profile

- There is no capital guarantee or protection on the value of the Fund. Investors can lose all capital invested in the Fund.
- Some emerging markets in which the Fund invests may have less developed political, economic and legal systems. Such markets may carry a higher than average risk to investment and may lead to large fluctuations in the value of the Fund.
- The Investment Manager does not engage in currency hedging. Changes in currency exchange rates may therefore adversely affect the value of your investment.
- During difficult market conditions, some of the Fund's assets may become difficult to accurately value or to sell at a desired price.
- The Fund may invest in warrants. Warrants carry a degree of risk significantly higher than the underlying company shares due to their leveraged nature and therefore have higher volatility.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and any income is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up and may be affected by exchange rate fluctuations. This means that an investor may not get back the amount invested. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses.

The indices are unmanaged and cannot be invested directly.
