Additionally, and for comparative purposes only, the sterling-adjusted MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) rose 7.54% over the month. EWF Performance* Compared to the S&P Super BMI** and MSCI EM Index (£) Since Inception (Rebased from inception, where 15th September 1998 = 100)

*Historical net of fees performance is based on an investment management fee of 1.5% per annum; as of 7 February 2022, the investment management fee is 1.45%. Returns are quoted in GBP for the convenience of shareholders, however the base currency of the Fund is USD.

**The benchmark was changed from the S&P Emerging BMI Plus on January 1, 2009 to better reflect the investment strategy of the Fund. The S&P Emerging BMI Plus was the successor index to the S&P/IFC Global Composite Index, the benchmark for the Fund prior to September 1, 2008, which has been discontinued. Benchmark changes have not been applied retroactively and therefore historical benchmark performance is a blend of the BMI and IFC indices.

The MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (MSCI EM Index) is shown for comparative purposes.

The size weighted portfolio discount is a measure of value within the portfolio, with a higher value representing wider discounts, and accordingly more value within the portfolio.

<sup>**</sup>Some of the closed-end funds have either fixed maturities or continuation votes that allow shareholders to vote on a restructuring of the underlying closed-end fund. The size weighted portfolio life is calculated by taking the percentage position sizes of the relevant holdings on the portfolio and multiplying them by their respective time periods remaining to the corporate event. These calculations are then added together to determine the minimum size weighted portfolio life for the portfolio. A lower size weighted portfolio life is beneficial for the portfolio as it may equate to potentially more corporate activity in the near term.

Economic Overview* (Macroeconomics)

Global equities continued to trend higher in September, driven by the rally in technology stocks and the resumption of the US Fed's easing cycle. As widely expected, the Fed cut the federal funds target rate by 25 bps at its September FOMC, with only one dovish dissenter. This eased concerns over the Fed's independence, which had been building since President Trump took office earlier this year. The updated dot plot projections indicated three rate cuts (including September's FOMC) for 2025 (previously two), along with minor revisions to economic projections. The market by the end of September was pricing in a 74% likelihood of two more cuts by the end of this year, with a cut at the October FOMC nearly fully priced in. Accordingly, the 2-year and 10-year US Treasury yields fell by 1 bps and 8 bps, respectively. Concerns over a US government shutdown rose in the lead up to the October 1 funding deadline.

Emerging market (EM) equities (as measured by MSCI EM Net TR Index) rose by 7.2% in US dollar terms, outperforming developed market (DM) equities (as measured by MSCI World Net TR Index) by 3.9 percentage points. The US dollar (DXY Index) was flat on the month, while the MSCI EM Currency Index gained 0.4%.

The best-performing major EM was South Africa, with the MSCI South Africa Index gaining 12.1% in US dollar terms. South African equities have been boosted by the rally in precious metals prices. Materials account for 37% of the MSCI South Africa Index. The South African rand appreciated by 2.2%, making it one of the best performing EM currencies over the month. Other strong equity market performances were recorded in Peru, South Korea and Mexico, with their respective MSCI indices rising by 12.8%, 10.5% and 9.8% in US dollar terms. South Korean stocks continued to be boosted by the technology sector, while Mexico's stock market gained as the Banxico cut the policy rate by 25 bps at its September meeting. Strong performances in China (+9.8%) and Taiwan (+9.4%) meant that EM Asia outperformed the EM aggregate by 0.3 of a percentage point.

In contrast, the weakest EM equity markets in September were the Philippines (-5.2%), UAE (-2.9%) and Indonesia (-2.2%). Indonesian stocks were dragged down by public unrest, which began in response to spending cuts and generous housing allowances for politicians. The MSCI India Index rose by a modest 0.5% in US dollar terms as concerns over a hike in H-1B visa fees and 100% pharmaceutical import tariffs were offset by optimism around goods and services tax cuts.

The Bloomberg Commodity TR Index rose by 2.2% in September, with gains in precious metals (+11.6%) and industrial metals (+3.7%) offsetting falls in agriculture (-3.4%) and energy (-0.1%). The price of Brent crude oil fell by 1.6% on fears of an oversupplied market.

Portfolio Commentary* (Investment Management)

Exposure to India was increased as we purchased shares of India Capital Growth Fund and Morgan Stanley India Investment Fund Inc at discounts ranging from 10% - 11.5%. Additionally, shares of Ashoka India Equity Investment Trust, which offers an annual redemption facility, were purchased at an average discount of 4.5%. In Latin America, exposure to Mexico was reduced as we sold share of Grupo Mexico SAB de CV at an average discount of 37.5%.

Fund Objective & Background

The objective of The Emerging World Fund (EWF) is to invest for capital growth in a portfolio of closed-end funds whose investment policy is directed mainly towards emerging markets. This approach allows great flexibility in asset allocation, a wider diversification of investments, participation in the performances of high quality fund managers and potentially enhanced performance when the discounts to net asset value at which closed-end funds tend to trade narrows. EWF is a sub-fund of The World Markets Umbrella Fund plc. ◊
